LORD SWORD

An Epic for Two Actors
by Douglas W. Campbell
Directed by Anne-Marie Donovan

A grieving storyteller takes on a young apprentice, and they are drawn into telling an epic beyond their power to control.
Two actors play a total of eleven roles - an ode to the art of the actor.

"I was amazed, totally entertained and taken away by the story. Serious and funny."
- Robert Achtemichuk
